

Front Desk Advisor

Every call answered, even when you're slammed.

A client shouldn't have to leave a voicemail to give you their business. When the phone rings during a service, after you've closed, or in the middle of a packed Saturday, the AI Receptionist picks up, has a real conversation, and gets the client on the books. Your front desk gets a teammate who never clocks out - no more choosing between the client in front of you and the one on hold, both get someone's full attention.

Ensure every call gets answered, no booking is missed, and every reschedule is handled, day or night.

You set the rules.

You say when it runs, decide what it can book and how it handles your callers – the rules are yours to change anytime.

It answers when you can't.

Picks up the calls your team can't get to, day, night, or mid-appointment.

It books on the spot.

Schedules and reschedules the client right there on the call, so the booking is captured, not lost.

Your team stays the star.

It catches the calls you'd have lost while your staff keep every client relationship intact.
